By joining Club 700, members can leverage the power of a 3-generation club to create a supportive environment where everyone can thrive financially.

How Club 700 Works

The foundation of Club 700 lies in its three-generation structure, designed to foster mutual support and financial growth among its members. Here's how it works:

- Generation 1: You begin by inviting people to join your club. These individuals form your first generation and make direct payments to you, providing initial capital.
- Generation 2: Each of the members you invited then recruits more people, forming your second generation. The members in this generation also make direct payments, contributing to your financial pool.
